We simply warn our friends not to tread upon our coat tails—that's all.

TROPHIES OF REBELLION—ENORMOUS QUANTITIES OF CANNON.—Government is rapidly dismantling the fortifications at Richmond and Petersburg and shipping the cannon, etc., to the Washington and other Northern navy yards [illegible] The number of cannon of all kinds [illegible] much larger than were originally supposed. At one time fourth [illegible] of the [illegible] below Richmond were covered with cannon, caissons, army wagons [illegible] Two vessels [illegible] City Point and Richmond lately loading with them, including the beautiful Whitworth [illegible] battery [illegible] presented [illegible] Burkesville [illegible] presented to the rebels at the beginning of the war by sympathizing friends in England. [illegible] PAPER OF THE STATE

MONDAY MORNING, AUGUST 14, 1865.

[illegible] — In connection with the loss of the steamer Brother Jonathan, there are some [illegible] we desire to speak of, and to which we have not yet particularly alluded. The first [illegible] is the fact that neither the California Steam Navigation Company nor the [illegible] of San Francisco sent any means of [illegible] to the scene of the wreck until so long a time had elapsed as to render all hope of assistance to those who might possibly have been living a few days after the disaster, [illegible]. The catastrophe occurred on the afternoon of Sunday, and it was known in San Francisco on the evening of the following Tuesday. Yet no effort was made to send succor to possible survivors or to ascertain in any way the nature of the calamity until the succeeding Friday. It is quite probable that a few persons may have floated for some days on parts of the wreck, as has heretofore been the case in frequent similar instances, and in such an event they could have been picked up had a steamer been sent at once from San Francisco [illegible] of the wreck and the missing [illegible]. We cannot account for its not being done except on the hypothesis that the Company, realizing that there was to be no pecuniary gain in such an undertaking, refused to do anything in the matter. Had it not been that the Del Norte was coming up the coast on her regular trip, it is very probable that no vessel would ever have been sent to the scene of the disaster. This conduct is quite in keeping with all the performances of this Company. For the sake of money they will use unseaworthy vessels in a trade where good ships are required, but when one of them is wrecked and there is no chance of saving any of the rigging or material, they neglect to send relief to such as may survive, because they see no promise of money in the undertaking.

Another thing that we wish to notice is, the fact that too many unsound vessels are used in the Oregon trade. Some of these rotten carcasses of ships are so frail that the very rats long ago instinctively quit them. Any vessel running upon a sunken rock in the manner of the Brother Jonathan is liable, or perhaps certain, to sink; but it seems hardly probable that the ship would have been lost at all, had she been quite staunch and in good condition. When she struck the fatal rock she was running for Crescent City harbor. Now why was she thus put about? Why, unless the Captain was in fear lest with her heavy freight, and a fresh breeze blowing, there was danger of her going down? There was no storm at all at the time. There was simply a brisk northwest wind, such as is quite common at this season of the year, but it was not violent enough to have endangered any vessel which is fit to go to sea.

The Oregon trade is of sufficient importance to have none but good vessels engaged in it. Our trade is the very best and most profitable on the northern coast. Every trip from San Francisco to Portland and back yields a clear return of a sum never falling below fifteen thousand and often reaching thirty five or forty thousand dollars. So much for the actual gains of those who have the monopoly of this business. It will be seen, therefore, that there is no excuse for employing here old hulks that are better fitted to have accompanied the stone fleet that blockaded the mouth of Charleston harbor than to be intrusted with a cargo of human lives.

Portland needs two or three new steamers of her own. She is rich enough to possess them. A sum amounting to several times their value could thus be saved to Oregon every year. If we had new ships, travelers would not find it necessary to close their worldly affairs and make their wills before they go to sea. Shall we have these ships? It is as easy to procure them as to decide to do so.

THE MISSOURI CONSTITUTION. — This instrument, in speaking of which the Copperheads of Oregon and California have indulged in a wonderful profusion of denunciatory epithets, proclaiming at the same time that it had been rejected by the "freemen" of Missouri—said "freemen" being the slave holders and returned rebels of that State—has been actually adopted. The result, officially declared, gives a majority of 1,862 in favor of the New Constitution. On the first of July Governor Fletcher issued a proclamation declaring the instrument the organic law of the State, and on the Fourth it passed into operation. We have no doubt but we shall hear from the Confederate press of this State renewed outcries against the Missouri Constitution, and the legality of the manner in which it was adopted. Such things are to be expected. Like importunate Guinea-fowls, crying the same note unceasingly day and night, these strepent declaimers have inveighed against everything which loyal people have seen fit to do, either for their own defence or for the punishment of traitors, during the last five years. We suppose that our Copperheads do ardently wish there were no penalties for the crime of treason. In that case, renegade Missouri rebels might return home and gratify their demoniac instincts by oppressing their loyal neighbors. Missouri is at last free. She has eradicated the curse of slavery and destroyed the power and influence of that class of men, who dyed as they are in the blackest guilt of treason are unfit to claim protection from the Government they wanted to destroy, or from the State upon which they brought greater extremes of misery than can ever be known. The infamy and degradation which these traitors have reached are incomparably worse than any other mode of punishment, however severe, and they deserve it all.

THE SHENANDOAH. — "Should she (the Shenandoah) enter our harbor we are bound to extend to her every protection which the law requires, but every right-thinking man will agree with us in saying, that the sooner her career and the feelings engendered by it are buried in oblivion the better."

The Victoria Chronicle closes a leader on the Shenandoah with the above remark. Now we should like to be informed what protection the English or Colonial laws require the authorities at Victoria to extend to the pirate in case he enters that port? We were informed some time ago that Great Britain had withdrawn from the rebels the rights that belong to a belligerent power, and that their cruisers could no more be permitted to enter British ports. Does the Chronicle mean to say that if the pirate comes to Victoria they will harbor him, afford him complete protection and permit him to refit for another piratical voyage? Do the Victorians now desire an opportunity to prove as faithless to the United States as [illegible] the Alabama [illegible] for lawless cruise? We submit to our English brethren that they already have enough to account for in this matter without inviting the pirate into their ports either for the purpose of refitting him or [illegible] that they may shield the outlawed crew from the punishment they deserve. The English had much better address themselves to the task of paying the claims which we have already against them for the ravages [illegible] of theirs has committed, rather than seek for an opportunity to make those claims still greater.

The great tunnel on the Steubenville and Pittsburg Railroad is two thousand feet long and is just finished. Trains will be running in a few weeks.

At the British Museum about 4,150 volumes are used in the reading room daily. The number of readers has been about 100,000, or 100 per [illegible]

Montana Territory

From the St. Louis letter to the [illegible] dated July [illegible] we take the following relative to Montana Territory and its growing trade: For all points beyond the Rocky mountains most of the articles consumed can be sent by way of the Missouri at rates as low as they can be afforded from this direction, but all places this side of that great mountain chain can be supplied by the Pacific trade much more expeditiously and at lower rates than the same can be done from any point east. It is even worth our while to contend with those of the East for the trade of the mines beyond Hell Gate. By next year the traffic with Montana will be much more considerable and valuable than now, and we want to secure a proper share of the attention of our merchants and traders. We subjoin the Herald's article:

The wonderful discoveries of precious metals in Montana, during the past year, have had the effect of drawing thither the larger portion of these emigrants, and thousands more have determined to make that Territory their home. These discoveries, it is said, were made mostly under the auspices of wealthy capitalists of New York, who sent thither, at large expense, a scientific corps under the management of Professor A. K. Eaton, formerly of the United States Assay Office. The design was to keep the facts secret until the best mining property had been secured by them. Hence this spring Professor Eaton returned with other scientific men to the same interest, taking with them all the needed machinery for the new process of reducing ores. Probably from three to four thousand tons of such machinery have been sent forward this season, and eight or ten thousand tons of general merchandise. Not less than fifty steamboats have found more or less employment in connection with this new traffic, many going the whole distance to Fort Benton. But a few days ago one returned which brought down something like a quarter of a million dollars as freight, and in the hands of passengers.

The new discoveries referred to above were made in Rattlesnake Hills, a short distance from East Bannock, and are silver lodes, some yielding as high as $4,000 per ton. Previously the only mines [illegible] known there were of gold, or of gold and silver combined. The new silver mines are in crevices varying from two to twelve feet, and are nearly perpendicular, widening as you descend. They are in the side hills, and give two hundred feet in depth before reaching the water line. It is said that the richest of the Washoe mines average less than one hundred dollars per ton, while those of the Reese District generally average less than three hundred. In the opinion of eminent geologists, metallurgists and many experienced miners, the yield of the Montana mines will be from six to ten times greater than that of the Nevada mines. The new gold lodes at Beaver Head, Prickly Pear, Mill Creek and Deer Lodge, as assayed at the United States Assay office in New York give in some instances $4,000 per ton, and in one $18,000.

Not only is the Territory thus promising in mineral wealth, but the climate is reported as surpassingly healthful, while the valleys are of temperature so mild that cattle graze in them during the whole year. The new road opened and about to be improved by a Montana company, and which winds through valleys abounding in forage and game, makes the distance from Omaha City to Virginia City, overland, only eight hundred miles, without crossing a single mountain. The Montana Post says: "The journey from Omaha in stages by the new route, can be made in eight days in summer and ten days in winter."

Of course such a Territory will rapidly increase in population and yearly increasing trade will be opened. Already a generous rivalry exists between various cities as to which shall procure and retain it. From its position and advantages of communication, St. Louis should have a controlling influence in it. We cannot hope to compete with New York capital in mining operations, but we do aspire to, and believe we can control the trade of the West. Great efforts, of course, will be made to direct it across Iowa, from Omaha and Sioux City, but so long as we have the Missouri river with which to compete, we need have no fear, if we only use the proper enterprise. St. Louis should also command the trade of Colorado, Kansas, and Nebraska, and should carry on considerable trade with Utah and Idaho. If proper efforts were made, the citizens of these Territories would undoubtedly concentrate their business here instead of passing us on their way eastward, as they have too often done heretofore. Machinery has been sent from Eastern cities which could have been made as well and as cheaply here, saving a thousand miles transportation. So with merchandise. Many traders from Montana have complained that they had to go East to make purchases because the requisite stocks were not found here. One reason for this has been due, perhaps, to the attempted secrecy observed with respect to the new discoveries there.

A [illegible] CORRESPONDENT. — "South Boise," the Idaho correspondent of the Sacramento [illegible] is out in another letter. From the querulous tone of his correspondence we are persuaded that he is one of those unfortunate misanthropes who, with minds soured against every person and thing on earth, spit the spume of their choler alike on enemies and friends. This splenetic person cannot forget to rail about the Oregon route to Idaho. This subject is the unfortunate man's hobby. It is the thing that haunts him. He cannot forget it. It seems to be ever present with him. Judging from the tone of his letters, he goes about the streets tortured with imaginary spirits—the offspring of his own conjuration—every one of which is constantly reminding him of the horrors of the Columbia river, and warning him never to risk himself upon its waters again. We prefer to regard this person as an object of compassion rather than of censure. "Greekly" speaking it is his dæmon which prompts him thus to act. He is evidently within this being's power. Hence he can talk only of one subject, and that subject, from the way in which he dwells upon it, is plainly an agonizing one.

It may, however, be worth while to notice some of the incorrect statements which this unfortunate person has been led unwittingly to make. We do not purpose to censure him for what he has written. His one idealism is no fault of his. We hope never to be found blaming a human being for a misfortune of which he is not the author and which he cannot avert. But we wish to make a correct statement about this freighting business, not to convince "South Boise" of his error, for in the case of one like him, such a thing is impossible, but to show others how the matter stands.

We are informed by "South Boise" that it costs nearly as much to take a quartz mill from San Francisco to Idaho by way of Portland, as the original price of the mill at the place where it is made. This is a wonderful piece of information. Goods and wares of all kinds cost several times as much in the mines as in the original markets. And if any one can find a way by which quartz mills can be conveyed to the ledges of Idaho for a much less sum than the first cost of the mill, such a person, we guarantee, will be thought a benefactor by the owners of [illegible] in the mines of that Territory.

We are told further that the freight on quartz mills to Idaho, across the plains from the East, is only nominal. True, if by the word "nominal" this correspondent means twenty nine cents per pound. Mills are now on their way from Nebraska City to Owyhee, the stipulated price for hauling which is as above stated. Now mark the difference between this price and the cost by way of Columbia river. A Mr. Richardson of New York recently purchased a heavy quartz mill in San Francisco and sent it to Owyhee by way of Portland, the entire cost [illegible] cents per pound for transportation. At the same time he left New York [illegible] to purchase mills there and have them hauled [illegible]. The price they [illegible] had to pay for freight, as before stated, was twenty nine cents per pound and the mills are not arrived at Owyhee yet. So much for this matter of freight at "nominal" rates across the plains.

What "South Boise" wrote [illegible] in the same category of mistake and error with the example above given. But let no one blame him. He maunders in this style by reason of an irresistible "thrusting on." We charitably hope he may soon be freed from the incubus of this spirit of hostility to Oregon, since it is evidently [illegible] him of all rest and peace and happiness.

It [illegible] Holy Mole [illegible] the [illegible] who exhibited the [illegible] and by giving loud [illegible] great joy when Booth [illegible] Democrat took the life of Mr. Lincoln [illegible] ago, having been released by [illegible] Government. In any other [illegible] would have instantly been put [illegible] which he was arrested [illegible] at home Saturday last the Copperheads [illegible] in the evening speeches were made by the most prominent rebels of the vicinity and the affair was wound up by all the neighboring Democrats getting unintentionally drunk as usual. This follows gab blow about "liberty." They have a more loyal [illegible] than they have of decency and loyalty. Their notions [illegible] their political associates to commit treason and cowardly murders and prompted [illegible] Democrats to applaud those acts. It is by the graces of loyal men and not by the deserts of these traitor assassins that they are not all removed from a world which [illegible] their presence and which would [illegible] could it get rid of the whole [illegible] of them.

CAPTAIN CHADDOCK. — Capt. [illegible] Chaddock, an officer for sixteen years connected with the revenue and naval service of the [illegible] was among the lost on the Brother Jonathan. He came to the Pacific shortly after the termination of the Mexican war. For a number of years he commanded the U. S. Revenue Cutter [illegible]. This vessel, while under his command was for a long time employed on Puget Sound. Capt. Chaddock was ordered to the Atlantic about three years ago and was actively engaged during the war. The [illegible] says of him: "He was an accomplished officer, a true friend, a loyal citizen and one of the best men, [illegible] that California has ever known. His name has become identified with the Pacific and we [illegible] see it perpetuated by a grateful community."

THE [illegible] — The Washington [illegible] public says that the State Department has received official information from our Minister at St. Petersburg that the Russian plague is spreading fearfully and extending rapidly westward. Minister Clay has suggested that proper measures be taken to prevent the introduction of this terrible epidemic in the United States. The State Department has accordingly issued circulars to the authorities of the principal cities throughout the country urging them to use every precaution to prevent its appearance among us.

DEPARTMENT OF THE COLUMBIA. — [illegible] B. [illegible] has assumed the command of the Department of the Columbia, headquarters at Fort Vancouver. His staff [illegible] Bybee, U. S. A. Medical Director and Purveyor; Capt. C. Hopkins, A. Q. M. U. S. V., Chief Quartermaster and Commissary; Capt. Wm. M. Knox, 1st W. T. Infantry, Commissary of Musters; and 1st Lieut. John G. Boom, Adjutant 1st Oregon Infantry, Acting Assistant Adjutant General.

MULTNOMAH TROTTING PARK—SATURDAY RACES.—There were about two hundred persons at the Multnomah Park on Saturday to witness a trotting match for a purse of $100, mile heats, best three in five.

Wells named ch g Mac 0 1 1
[illegible] named bl m Sally 0 2 2

TIME.

First heat [illegible]
Second heat [illegible]
Third heat [illegible]
Fourth heat [illegible]

Both horses belong in this city. Mac is owned by Mr. [illegible] C. Leonard and Sally by Mr. [illegible]. [illegible] that the track was [illegible] that between the [illegible] scarcely be seen from the Judges' stand [illegible] horses were both given [illegible]. Previous to the first heat [illegible] was apparently unknown [illegible] owned here so long, but he had never [illegible] and his time was not certain [illegible] acted badly, losing much [illegible] and won it easy. The second heat [illegible] the horses passed nearly abreast at the first quarter, and had it not [illegible] half when the mare breaking fell back the [illegible] her full ten lengths. After passing [illegible] she worked more fairly and [illegible] and head. There not being any [illegible] was decided a dead heat, time [illegible] an [illegible] and pretty [illegible] little to choose between the horses. [illegible] freely offered on time. After passing [illegible] broke continually [illegible] the former broke for the first time [illegible] down to square trotting and crossed the [illegible] or four lengths ahead, time 2.40½. The fourth heat was much the same as the previous one [illegible]. The horses showed [illegible] close of the fourth heat, but were [illegible]—they have both established a time [illegible] mare is excitable and breaks badly [illegible] to the work is capable of improving [illegible]. The horse was never matched before [illegible] [illegible] admirably—and there are very few pretty [illegible] than those of Saturday.

[illegible] THE [illegible].—The memorandum [illegible] given in the marine list this morning quotes the steamer John H. Couch as being a tug. [illegible] the matter should be reversed. The John H. Couch should be rightfully known as the pleasure [illegible], and the Rabbon [illegible] as a tug, to be in keeping with the construction of either. The Rabbon was [illegible] the [illegible] were given in the list [illegible] come on to Portland, not wishing to be kept [illegible] all night by the Couch acting [illegible] a tug, seeing a vessel rightly belonging to [illegible]. The Couch will lose her reputation as a passenger craft [illegible] by running [illegible] was built at a heavy expense for this purpose, and not [illegible] the passengers who arrived by her on Saturday [illegible] were well pleased with the trip and [illegible] in high terms of commendation of the [illegible] is to be [illegible] of a ship. She is just the character of craft that has been long needed here and we trust that her [illegible] may in no way be interfered with. The [illegible] of vessels should understand [illegible] nected with this matter, that shippers [illegible] their goods [illegible] rily detained, and they will [illegible] the freight by [illegible] whose owners are [illegible] wise in [illegible] a cargo laying idle for a few days that they may have the [illegible] of a few dollars by opposition. We are [illegible] the rights of an opposition at this time in the tug. The Rabbon has established her reputation for the business in which she is engaged. She can [illegible] winds and rough sea of the Columbia river bar [illegible] with ships in tow, a thing which has never heretofore been done. On Friday last she parted [illegible] and sent the Almatia on to San Francisco. To [illegible] is at her post ready to go out and bring over the [illegible]. It [illegible] from Honolulu, if anywhere to be seen. In short the Rabbon is just what we all want, and her [illegible] should be encouraged. Fair competition we never object to, but any rule or ruin policy we [illegible] down on. If the master of a ship is [illegible] to tow by the Couch, or any other boat, there can be [illegible] by community. If the opposition [illegible] has no influence to detain quick dispatch [illegible] drive the tug out of the business.

[illegible] COURT.—In Circuit Court on Saturday last Judge R. D. Shattuck presiding, the final decree in the case of [illegible] vs. Corbett, Arrigoni and others was [illegible]. We shall publish the opinion to-morrow. In the case of Harriet King vs. the city of Portland, being an application to enjoin the city from collecting the [illegible] for street improvements, the Court intimated that there were grave doubts about the constitutionality of the [illegible] of the city charter now in force, allowing the [illegible], but as it was not clear to his mind that they were unconstitutional, he would refuse the injunction, and allow the case to go to the Supreme Court. [illegible] that it will be taken there and the question can be determined within thirty days, and before any [illegible] can be sold on the warrants which have been ordered by the Council to be placed in the hands of the city [illegible]. Those paying the assessment can do so under a [illegible]. In the case of the administrator of Caruthers [illegible] Ladd and Kilborn from recovering the land south of the city, known as the land claimed by the mother of Finice Caruthers, the Court refused the injunction, deciding that a single woman could not, in 1851, hold lands under the [illegible] section of the donation law.

[illegible].—We are informed by Capt. Connor of the [illegible] Sierra Nevada that the snags lying at the [illegible] of the river require immediate attention. Unless [illegible] it is doubtful whether the next steamship can reach this port. There is an appropriation in the [illegible] sufficient to pay all the expense of moving the snags, and as the Dredger is now completed at least so far as this branch of its usefulness is concerned, will it not be wise to have the snags removed to-morrow? The [illegible] can take action upon the matter to-night. Unless this is done we are of the opinion that the Orizaba, the [illegible], will be unable to reach Portland.

[illegible].—On Saturday night two teams employed on [illegible] street [illegible] ran away simultaneously. One came [illegible] at a fearful gait down Taylor street, and fetched up at the corner of First. The other struck in on Yamhill street, [illegible] the driver rapidly, until they veered to one side of the road at the crossing of Third street, when the [illegible] was piled up on a stump, very miscel[illegible] and the horses kept on. After the dust from the [illegible] of the wagon and the general muss of the smash had cleared up, the team was no where to be seen.

[illegible].—George Reed, who was discharged [illegible] Court on Thursday last, on examination [illegible] a coat, is now at last in jail. The last [illegible] him in bonds of $500 for his appearance at [illegible] term of the Circuit Court, on a charge of [illegible] of boots. He has evidently been intent upon [illegible] articles, to wear, and has succeeded in [illegible] board and lodging besides.

A [illegible].—On last Friday night a child about five years of age, was found wandering in the streets of the city at one o'clock. He was taken care of by the [illegible] him, and finally restored to his parents, when it was [illegible] that during the night the little fellow had left his bed, opened the door, and walked away from home.

CARGO OF THE MERRITT.—This vessel brings a large cargo of [illegible], principally in the line of groceries, a large quantity of syrup, sugars, rice and salt. There is a good supply of government stores also on board for Cape [illegible], Fort Stevens, Fort Walla W[illegible], and the Marine Hospital. The furniture which goes for Gen. Wright's new home comes by the Merritt.

[illegible] AT SAN FRANCISCO.—The brig Sunny South, Capt. Wiggin, three days from the Columbia river, and [illegible] W. H. Brandon, Capt. Cathcart, [illegible] river, are announced as having [illegible] on the 2d inst. They have made good time.

[illegible].—There is an in[illegible] number of small [illegible] in supplying trade and traffic of [illegible]. We [illegible] to them near shore in most instances [illegible] with the old adage of little boats [illegible] mud, stone, lumber, etc., ad infinitum.

[illegible].—The members of the City Council [illegible] for the [illegible] of business [illegible] of Front street [illegible] at 7½ o'clock.

[illegible].—It is strange how hot and dry the weather [illegible] we have had but two inches of rain since the first of May. But the thermometer runs up to 106 at [illegible] times. The weather for two days past has been splendid.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—The undivided one half of the North Portland saw mill was sold at auction on Saturday last, for the sum of $5,100 cash.

San Francisco News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—The Bulletin publishes the petition for the reorganization of the Union party in the county, together with the names of the petitioners. They number by actual count between 6,000 and 7,000.

The Union County Convention met last evening to receive the report of the Committee on platform and resolutions. Their report was substantially as follows:

Your Committee regard loyalty and thorough fidelity to the United States Government the first qualification and no man should be considered in connection with the office of State Senator or Assemblyman whose devotion to the Union is not now and for years past has been [illegible], and in the event of their election they should consider no name for the Senate of the United States whose loyalty and patriotism is not absolutely certain and who will not stand faithfully by the Administration in sustaining the great leading measures of the war and in the policy of reconstruction already foreshadowed by President Johnson.

Your Committee have had under consideration various local questions. We are in favor of retaining our water front and wharf interest as they have been settled by the Dalton Bills, recognizing the fee of this property in the State, to be administered by the wharf commissioners for the purpose of building a sea wall out of the revenues of the wharves, so that the interest of commerce may be subserved, the rights of the State protected and that eventually our port, dock and wharf charges may be reduced to the lowest possible figure. We recognize the title to outside lands in the city and think they should be administered for the benefit of the people, respecting the equity of those who have occupied and improved in good faith, reserving enough lands for municipal uses and that the surplus should be disposed of for homesteads to those who desire to enjoy them as homes, the city not to make money in the sale of lands, but believing that the best interest of the municipal government lies in the prosperity of all its citizens. We are in favor of a registry law so that while every person legally entitled to the elective franchise may enjoy it without hindrance, it may prevent illegal voting. Looking upon the elective privilege as the most sacred right of a citizen, we think the ballot box should be guarded by the strictest legislation, and if any person entitled to vote is too ignorant or too careless to cause his name to be properly registered, let the loss of his vote teach him to be more vigilant in the future. We are in favor of legalizing primary elections in order to prevent fraud, preserve order and secure a fair expression at the primary or party ballot. It is impossible to anticipate the various measures which will come before the next Legislature; nor do we deem it all important to exact from every candidate a pledge upon each particular question likely to arise.

Resolved, That sound policy requires that no European Government shall be permitted to control the destiny of the people of Mexico against their will, and that our Government will carry out the wishes of the American people by declaring to the European Governments that the Monroe Doctrine will be maintained at all hazards on the American continent. The resolutions were unanimously adopted. The Committee on Nominations stated their inability to report, owing to their not having had time to hunt up candidates. The convention then adjourned until this evening.

A contract has been awarded to Samuel Crim of Santa Clara, for furnishing 200 head of cavalry horses, at $89 50 each.

The jury in the case of the United States vs. 300 Baskets Champagne marked S. & M., returned a verdict to-day in favor of Government, after two minutes absence from their seats.

We learn through private letters, received by the French frigate Dassas, that Pasqueira wrote to the French commander at Guaymas that no opposition would be made in case the French should advance, as he, Pasqueira, had to leave Hermosillo in consequence. Five hundred French troops left for that city, but nobody could tell whether Pasqueira had gone into Arizona or tried to join President Juarez in Chihuahua.

Jean Vogrot died suddenly yesterday from disease of the heart.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 12.—Orson H. Elliott, whose feet were frozen on the voyage from Victoria to this port, obtained a verdict of one thousand dollars damages against the California Steam Navigation Company by consent of defendants.

The Moses Taylor took six hundred and fifty passengers.

J. R. Shannon, Surveyor of the port, and Noah Brooks, naval officer, received their commissions yesterday. They gave bonds and entered upon the discharge of their official duties to day.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—The Union County Convention met last evening. J. R. Hardenburg stated that three thousand of the Union citizens of San Francisco had recommended that Samuel Brannan be placed before the convention for Legislative honors, but as it was impossible for that gentleman to serve, he now withdrew his nomination. The convention then made the following nominations: For Senate, Frank M. Pixley and B. W. Hathaway; for Assembly, A. B. Forbes (of Wells, Fargo & Co.), Charles Hosmer (merchant), Louis Cohn (commission merchant), W. H. Gawley (lumber dealer), Geo. B. Reeve (merchandise broker), J. S. Burnett (mining secretary), Gerret Welton (builder), A. G. Russ (owner of the Russ House), Benj. Dore (contractor), [illegible] L. Cutter, Jr., (lawyer), Nathaniel Page (dealer in real estate), A. W. Scott (hay dealer). These men were elected seriatim. The convention then appointed a committee of one from each district to fill such vacancies as may occur during the canvass, and a committee of five to co-operate with the county committee during the canvass.

This committee was subsequently requested to call a ratification meeting at an early day. J. R. Hardenburgh seconded the motion for a ratification meeting. They had been stigmatised as Bhoys, and he was surprised that they had endured the abuse heaped upon them by a portion of the public press. He claimed that they were the regularly constituted Union Conventionists. Their party it was who carried the last election for Abraham Lincoln.

A firm in this city, who had a ship and cargo destroyed by the Shenandoah, have forwarded a bill of $200,000 to Washington to be filed with other claims of indemnity against England for property destroyed by English pirates. Similar bills will be presented by the owners of all other vessels destroyed by the pirate.

Mr. James Street, the well known telegraph constructor, is expected here by the next mail steamer from New York with a view of commencing a new line of telegraph overland from San Francisco to the Mississippi river, over the central route, for the United States Telegraph Company.

OLYMPIA, Aug. 12.—The annual session of the Oregon Methodist Episcopal Conference commenced at this place on Thursday last. The attendance is large and the proceedings thus far have been harmonious and satisfactory. Owing to the absence of Rev. Bishop Kingsley, Rev. J. H. Wilbur was elected President pro tem. Among the distinguished ministers present we notice Rev. Father Leslie, Spencer, Royal and Waller, Rev. Dr. Evans, General Missionary Agent of the M. E. Church for British Columbia and Vancouver Island, Rev. Dr. Benson, editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate, Rev. Gustavus Hines, Rev. H. K. Hines, Williams, Roberts, Rutledge and others were present.

GLAD TO HEAR IT.—One of the Oregon Copperhead papers says the "Democracy" are not going to assassinate anybody hereafter. This is a gentle confession of former guilt and an encouraging promise for future good conduct. Evidently, the "Democracy" are afraid of meeting the same fate that befell the assassins of Mr. Lincoln. After all, we have little faith in this promise of better things hereafter. The recent assassination of Mr. Pinkham by the Democrat Ferd Patterson, does not indicate that the "Democracy" have quit this sort of thing.

A FRAGRANT BREATH AND PEARLY TEETH—Are easily attained and those who fail to avail themselves of the means should not complain when accused of gross neglect. The Sozodont will speedily eradicate the cause of a foul breath, beautifying and preserving the teeth to the oldest age.

The Lungs are the Great Laboratory of the Human System.—When once destroyed they never can be made sound again. We should remove the first cause that tends to their destruction. When sores are forming, it is indicated by a cough or pains in the chest, or difficulty of breath. Now ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will check these symptoms at once if it is used in time, and prevent fatal Consumption. For sale by

GOLDWIN SMITH ON LINCOLN.

Professor Smith begins his paper with the remark that [illegible] death of Lincoln, America has gained [illegible] character, the most precious and [illegible] of national possessions. [illegible] was an English woman [illegible] the [illegible] of that strong, kindly and [illegible] with his legal training [illegible] enough to alter the ground plan [illegible] legal abstraction [illegible] reasons [illegible] reverence for law which, in spite of a few most noble exertions of his military authority in the [illegible] years, never deserted him [illegible] of a raging revolution.

[illegible] he has fallen a martyr to the abolition of slavery. He was not a fanatical Abolitionist. He would have done nothing unconstitutional to effect immediate emancipation. In this respect, as in others, he was a true representative of the hard-headed and [illegible] minded farmer of the West. But he hated slavery with all his heart. He was born [illegible] of a family of [illegible]. He said that if slavery was not wrong nothing was wrong, and though these words were not violent, they were sincere. He said that the day must come when the Union would be all slave or all free, and here again he meant what he said. He did not, as President, suffer himself to hold fierce language against slavery, nor will he, though hard pressed by [illegible] character and convictions he held in high respect, allow himself to be hurried into premature and illegal measures for its instant extirpation. But biding his time with patient sagacity, he struck it deliberately and legally the blow of which it has died. It struck him in return the blow which will make him live in the love of the nation and of mankind forever.

LINCOLN'S JESTS.

Dicey writes as follows:

There was about the man a sense of fitness supplied by the possession of real humor that told him whether a jest was permissible or not. But the papers daily attributed to him every joke that any buffoon throughout the United States could pick out of "Joe Miller," and many of these if really made at the times represented would have betrayed not only want of artificial breeding, but absence of native delicacy. In no country is it so difficult to say what is truth as in America. I remember an English settler in the West telling me a long story about "Old Abe"—as men called him there—whose scene was laid at a Court house where my informant declared he was present himself. The whole point of the story, which if true was not a creditable one, rested on the fact of the President's being an immoderate smoker. At the time I heard it, I could not doubt the truth of the anecdote, but afterward I happened to learn accidentally from the President himself, that he had never been in the habit of smoking.

Thus Lincoln bore the discredit of having made a variety of jests which he most certainly could never have made—of being, in fact, a man who never could resist the temptation of making a joke, be the occasion what it might. And Americans, who have a strong sense of dignity according to their own standard, felt deeply annoyed at the sort of merry-Andrew reputation which, in the earlier days of his administration, clung to the late President. A friend of mine, who saw the President daily, told me at the time that the humor of Lincoln was used rather as a screen than due to any innate love of joking. Probably no man ever became the ruler of a great nation with such a small stock of knowledge as to the arts of governing as was possessed by Lincoln. He was far too shrewd a man not to be aware of his own ignorance, and I believe the way which he adopted of turning away all awkward questions by a joke arose in great part from a desire to gain time, in order to weigh more fully matters with which he felt himself incompetent to deal on the spur of the moment. The anecdotes for which he was famous were seldom a real answer to the inquiry which called them forth.

HIS FACULTY OF DIVINATION.

He was far too keen an observer not to know what people thought of him, and beneath his rough exterior there lay, I expect, an almost morbid sensitiveness. Moreover, if my view of his character is right, he had a quality very rare amongst his countrymen, or indeed amongst our Anglo Saxon race. He had that almost fatal gift of divination which enables men to see that there are two sides to every question. Thus though he hated slavery fully as much as Johnson, he had none of the personal animosity toward slave-owners which seems characteristic of his successor. A sort of Yankee Hamlet, he was borne to set aright a world which was out of joint, and never, I think, was there a man less gifted by natural inclination to undertake the task. The one point of which he could satisfy himself beyond a shadow of doubt was that he, the legally elected President of the American Union, was bound by his oath "to preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States." With regard to this duty he never faltered, but how that duty was to be performed was to him, in the early days of his rule, a subject of most painful doubt and difficulty. He could not tell whom to trust in those days, when many even of the Federal officers were suspected to secret complicity with the Confederate authorities; he could not convince himself whether decisive action with reference to slavery was likely to shorten or prolong the war; he could not, if what I heard at the time was true, altogether satisfy himself whether he was the right man in the right place after all. At a later period, when it became clear that nothing but the overthrow of the military power of the Confederacy would restore the Union, his course became, I fancy, much easier to himself. When once he was able to see that his duty commanded him simply, in his own words, "to keep pegging away," I have no doubt he was less burdened by a sense of responsibility. We all laughed very much in England at the simplicity of the ruler who confessed he had no policy except to "peg away;" but this expression showed us, if we had but known it, the true strength of Lincoln's character, and also the limits within which that strength was contained.

DICEY'S INTRODUCTION TO LINCOLN.

With that old humor of which Seward is so fond, and which by the way so wofully perplexed the late Duke of Newcastle on the occasion of his interview with the Secretary of State, I was introduced to the President as "one of his enemies." "I did not know that I had any enemies," was the answer, and I can still feel as I write the grip of that great bony hand held out to me in token of friendship. In my life I have seen a good number of men distinguished by their talents or their station, but I never saw any one so apparently unconscious that this distinction conferred upon him any superiority as Abraham Lincoln.

I remember the President asked me a good deal about England, seemed genuinely anxious to learn why public feeling should be so hostile to the North, and, unlike most of his countrymen, never intimated a conviction that he understood England better than an Englishman could. [illegible] But in [illegible] throughout it was clear that the President preferred listening to talking. He spoke freely enough on public affairs [illegible] a good deal about the pretensions put forward by the Southern [illegible] a strict observance of legality in all their internal government, and among other things that they reminded him of a bar-keeper he had known down in St. Louis, who [illegible] had never had a death in his house during the cholera, because whenever an inmate of the house was dying he turned him out [illegible] in the gutter outside the door. He spoke [illegible] pleasantly enough with Seward about the [illegible] and his [illegible] observations he had made with reference to the health [illegible] whisky drinkers in the West, [illegible] to take part in the conversation, he sat silent, brooding for the most time over the stove, or else walking slowly up and down the long saloon [illegible]. The shadow of sadness sat upon him and it was only by an effort he could throw off the gloom. How far he had [illegible] depression was increased by his then recent domestic affliction I cannot say, but the deep careworn lines about his rugged face [illegible] melancholy of [illegible]

[illegible] A [illegible] the power which [illegible] the feuds of clanship, or the vengeance of murderers and outlaws—here is not one which is a parallel to cases in our own civil war, with [illegible] of fraternal blood. As [illegible] as the story may seem, there is one person still living who has killed with his own hand upward of sixty men! The monster in human form is Champ Ferguson, the guerrilla and outlaw.

This man and his family lived in Cumberland county, Kentucky, at the outbreak of the war, and although taking no part in politics was understood to be a secessionist. The Home Guards in that section, acting under the Federal Government, attempted to arrest him. He fled to the woods and evaded capture, but some of the men attempted to force his wife to reveal his whereabouts. She refused, and the drunken crowd required her to strip, and in this nude state forced her to dance for their amusement. On his return Ferguson was told of the outrage. From that moment humanity seemed to fly from his heart. He swore eternal vengeance on the perpetrators of the deed, and upon all even who were connected with them by blood. But he awaited his time to execute his bloody revenge. A month later and all Kentucky was lit up with the flames of civil war. The Federal Army entered the State from the North and the Confederate Army from the South. The section where Ferguson lived was within the lines of the latter. With a small band of men only less desperate than himself, Ferguson entered upon his career of vengeance, blood and crime. He sought to exterminate the authors of the outrage upon his wife. No beagle was ever surer on his trail, no bloodhound so faithfully followed the track as this man did his victims. He was transformed from a man to a monster. He waylaid one of the men and shot him from the covert. He went alone in the night to the house of another and murdered him in the presence of his wife and children. His gang caught a mere boy, son of one of the Home Guard, and brought him to the leader. The boy begged for mercy. "Oh yes," said Ferguson, "I'll give you mercy," and jerked the boy's head back, and with a stroke of his knife nearly severed the head from the body. He murdered an old man aged seventy five years because he was the father of one of these men, and he pursued each one with such unrelenting hatred that the balance sought safety in flight. Gnashing his teeth like a wild beast at the escape of his intended [illegible], Ferguson slaked his appetite for blood elsewhere. He extended it to the Federal soldiers, and during their occupation of Tennessee pursued them with relentless ferocity. He refused to take a commission in the Confederate Army, and therefore fought with a halter around his neck. With the band he gathered around him he cut off small squads and stragglers, and it is yet to be recorded that he spared a single life. The sick or disabled fared the common fate of all who fell into his hands. He went into a house at Sparta, Tennessee, where Lieutenant Morrill, of a Wisconsin regiment, was seriously ill, and murdered him in his bed. He made forays into Kentucky and plundered and murdered without discrimination. He reveled in a carnival of blood.

There were many attempts made to capture this outlaw, but he evaded them all. In one of those conflicts with the Federal cavalry he was dangerously wounded, but escaped. They could not discover his place of concealment. His wife, ever faithful—ministered to his wants and he recovered only to repeat his atrocities. These were continued until a few weeks ago. When the balance of the guerrillas in Tennessee received amnesty, Ferguson was excepted, and was finally captured by the treachery of a comrade. He is now in chains in Nashville penitentiary, and will undoubtedly be hanged. He boasts that he never spared a foe, and therefore expects no favor for himself. A gentleman well acquainted with this man's history assures us that he has killed more than sixty men with his own hands, and there are others who assert the number will reach a hundred. And this is one of the phases of civil war.

REMINISCENCE OF JEFF. DAVIS.—When Jeff. Davis was returning from Buena Vista, Mexico, to the States, with his regiment, he called on General Wool, who was then in command of that department, and asked for teams to draw the men's knapsacks. The General informed him that the transportation was all engaged in removing the ordnance from the country, therefore it was impossible to accommodate him. Jeff insisted until he had introduced the subject the third time, whereupon the old regular told him he would hear no more about the matter.

Jeff took his leave suddenly, telling the General to go to hell. The General told him if he would repeat the words he would put him under arrest. Jeff repeated the words and took to his heels down the street, pursued by the writer of this article, who was on guard at the door during the conversation, and was ordered by the General to arrest him.

Jeff saw he was coming out second best in the race, and made a flank movement through a Mexican house into a back yard, which was enclosed by a high wall that could not be scaled, where the guard kept him until the officer of the guard and four men came.

The officer of the guard informed the Colonel that he was his prisoner, and that he had orders to take him to General Wool's headquarters. The Colonel said he would go. The officer replied that if the Colonel said he would go, that was enough; but judge of his astonishment when he saw the perfidious fellow taking to his heels again down the street. This time he was pursued by a Kentuckian, who was nearest him when he took his flight. He soon came up within reach of him, and dealt him a blow with the butt of his gun over the head that prostrated him.

Jeff rolled over on his back and made some chivalrous thrusts with his saber, which were successfully parried by the Kentuckian, who was in the act of wrenching the sword from his hand when the rest of the party came up and overpowered the Colonel, and marched him back to headquarters, where he was put under guard until he repented his rashness and apologized to the General, who released him to pursue his march a wiser if not a better man.—St. Paul (Minnesota) Press.

THE NEW BIRTH OF MISSOURI.—The victory is won. The long struggle which uncompromising loyalty has waged against treason and against that Conservative Unionism which has played a role more disreputable than has treason itself is at an end, and the State, freed from the shackles of an old and barbarous system, in the triumph of the right, stands "redeemed, regenerated and disenthralled." In the adoption of the new Constitution, framed by liberal and progressive men, in accordance with the earnest teachings of the times, Missouri enters upon an era as distinct in its superiority over that in which she has heretofore lived as if she had passed under a new heaven. Time will assuredly demonstrate the advantages which her changed condition promises to realize, nor will we have long to wait before it will be manifest to every mind that, in discarding the policy which slavery and its attendant influences had shaped for her, and putting on the full habit of a free loyal State, Missouri has done a most wise and politic thing. In deciding for the Constitution which this day becomes her fundamental law she has washed out every trace of the stains which slavery and treason have left upon her garments. The word "slave" is no longer to be found in any of her statutes. She has turned over a new leaf, and begins upon an unsullied page the record of a history which, according to present indications, must rank with the most brilliant in the annals of the nation.—Missouri Democrat of the 4th.

An Atlanta correspondent tells a singular story of [illegible] Yeadon, of the Charleston Mercury, who just previous to the rebellion came North and much disgusted the chief Southern conspirators by openly proclaiming what the South intended to do. Nobody at the North cared much for what he said, he being well known as a first class fire eater in his talk. [illegible] justice has been meted out to him. He is now perfectly insane, and when Sherman marched into Columbia, S. C., was found on the streets with nothing on but a short shoulder [illegible] his fellow citizens to [illegible] rather than surrender to the [illegible] Yanks. Some of Sherman's bummers captured the fellow, took [illegible] from him and put him in the guard house. He is now living in abject poverty in Aiken, S. C. His partner died sometime since from grief and insanity brought on by their losses in backing up secession.

MR. HENRY [illegible] Is this the Boston Traveler or do our eyes deceive us? Bring us our glasses, let us look again. Yes, it is no mistake. There is the Traveler and the paragraph [illegible] President Johnson [illegible] proclamation, etc. This same reputable [illegible] a very short [illegible] And that makes a [illegible] It is only another instance of the respect for law which has guided the U. S. Government in its dealings with foreign nations. [illegible] sweet! and so funny.

The colored troops quartered in the vicinity of St. Louis have, it is said, contributed $3,000 to aid the erection in Washington of a monument to the memory of the late President.

"CONSTITUTION WATER,"

THE ONLY REMEDY FOR DISEASES OF THE

BLADDER, KIDNEYS,
Gravel, Dropsical Swellings,
GENITAL DEBILITY, ETC.

THE ASTONISHING SUCCESS WHICH HAS ATtended this invaluable medicine renders it the most valuable ever discovered. No language can convey an adequate idea of the immediate and almost miraculous change which it occasions in the debilitated and shattered system. In fact, it stands unrivaled as a remedy for the permanent cure of the maladies above mentioned, and also—

DIABETES, IMPOTENCY,
LOSS OF MUSCULAR ENERGY,
PHYSICAL PROSTRATION, INDIGESTION,
SEMINAL WEAKNESS,
GLEET, FLUOR ALBUS,

And in every disease in any way connected with the disorder or decay of the Procreative Functions. Persons about to marry, if conscious of any weakness, should take the

CONSTITUTION WATER,

Whether broken down by excess, weak by nature, or impaired by sickness, the unstrung and relaxed organization is at once rebraced, revivified and built up. Well may this celebrated medicine be called the

MEDICAL WONDER.

The stooping, trembling victim of depression and debility becomes a new man; he stands erect, he moves with a firm step, his mind, which was previously sunk in gloom or an almost idiotic apathy, becomes bright and active; and he goes forth regenerated, conscious of new vigor.—The medicine reaches the CONSTITUTION itself and restores it to its normal condition.

IRRITATION OF THE NECK OF THE BLADDER, INFLAMMATION OF THE KIDNEYS, AND CATARRH OF THE BLADDER,
STRANGUARY AND BURNING OR PAINFUL
URINATING,
CALCULUS, GRAVEL,
BRICK DUST DEPOSIT, AND MUCOUS
OR MILKY DISCHARGES AFTER URINATING.

For these diseases it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. TRY IT in these cases, and you will ever give praise to

CONSTITUTION WATER.

Males or Females,

Are you troubled with that distressing pain in the small of the back, and through your hips? CONSTITUTION WATER will relieve you like magic.

ALLEN'S
LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,
Asthma, Croup,
Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD, heals the irritated parts, gives strength to the digestive organs, brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction, even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it, if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned to this State, after an absence of one year, during which time he has visited all the principal hospitals of Europe, among them those of Dublin, London and Paris. The following celebrated hospitals of London are among those visited by the Doctor: Guy's, High street, Borough; St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield; St. Mary's, Camb Place, Paddington; Lock, Harrow road; St. Luke's, Old street; University, Gower street; [illegible]; Broad Sanctuary, Charring Cross, Agar street, Strand; London, Whitechapel road; Royal Free, Gray's Inn road; King's College, Portugal street.

DOCTOR GIBBON has also visited Doctors Acton of London, Parker of Birmingham, England, and Ricord of Paris, who are considered the best physicians and surgeons in the world, and whose authority is acknowledged to be the highest in the treatment of Sexual Diseases.

DOCTOR GIBBON has obtained from them their new mode of treatment which cannot be surpassed.

DOCTOR GIBBON has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new [illegible], and has returned with new facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies, so that they are cured for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury, or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequently insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney street, near Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

Prevention Better than Cure.

The newly invented Patent French Safe, a sure Preventive against Diseases and Pregnancy, sent by mail. Price $2. Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney St., near Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box 252.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets. For as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Doctor Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, or [illegible] patients' letters, etc. Doctor Gibbon will satisfy those who may call at his offices of his ability to treat the cases that he proposes to cure.
